SUICIDE.

Miss Angie Trusty Takes Her Own Life.

The Tragedy Occurred on the Road Between Louisa and Blaine Thursday Morning.

Miss Angie Trusty, daughter of John Trusty, of the Keaton fork of Blaine, killed herself on the public road near Blaine on Thursday morning of this week. Her body was found by the roadside on top of the hill just this side of the town of Blaine. An empty bottle that had contained carbolic acid was at her side. Also, a note is said to have been found with the bottle.

She had been staying with the family of C. B. Crutcher in Louisa for a short time, but left Wednesday for the home of her parents on the head of Blaine, just across the line into Johnson county. She was making the trip with Bailey and Lemaster's wagons, which had been to Louisa with country produce and were returning to the upper Blaine country. The Blaine hill is quite steep and the girl got off and walked up the hill ahead of the wagons and alone. When the wagons reached the summit the drivers were surprised and shocked to find the lifeless form of the girl who had been out of their sight only such a brief time. The deadly poison had done its work quickly. This was about nine o'clock yesterday morning.

The motive of the suicide is not known. It is presumed the poor girl was despondent over the hard lot that seemed to be hers in life, and decided that death would be a relief.

Over 100 Years Old.

only on rare occasions that a newspaper man is called upon who has lived more than one hundred years, but such is the case in the subject of this sketch. Mrs. Ann Maria Nicholson, who died at her home on East Winchester avenue in Ashland.

Mrs. Nicholson was a very remarkable woman in many ways. Think what it means—a span of one hundred years, yet Mrs. Nicholson had exceeded this limit by three months and twenty-seven days. She was a very bright woman, an interesting conversationalist, and was up until a few hours of her death, possessed of all her faculties. She was quite spry and able to get around the house until a few days before her death, when she was taken with a heavy cold which settled in her lungs, and developed into pneumonia. This, owing to her great age and frail constitution, she was unable to throw off and she rapidly sank until death relieved her of her sufferings, and she passed to the great beyond to be with friends and relatives who had gone before.

Mrs. Nicholson's age was 100 years, 3 months and 27 days, and she was the oldest resident of Boyd county. She was a disciple of the great Alexander Campbell and was baptized by him.

RETURNED MISSIONARY HERE.

People of Louisa may congratulate themselves upon having in their midst Mrs. Josephine Campbell, who for many years was a missionary in China, but who is now stationed at other Em. Korea, and has charge of the school wherein is placed the Kentucky Scholarship. This large of a school is the means of creating interest in Mrs. Campbell's work to the extent that your people will welcome her here.

She arrived here on Sunday evening at the M. F. Conley's. Mrs. Campbell is attending on the Western Virginia conference and Louisa is glad to have secured her for a visit to all, come.

Irma Watts, of Charleston, was in this city last week.

LAWRENCE COUNTY'S VOTE.

The official count of Lawrence county's vote was completed last Saturday and showed 62 majority for O'Hear and 106 for McClure. The sheriff was called away before the certificates were ready to sign and an adjournment was taken until the 15th. At that time the Board was served with a notice to summon the officers of Dobbins precinct to certify as to whether or not certain questioned ballots were counted. A meeting to consider this action has been appointed for the 18th.

The count in Boyd county has not been completed and the legislative race between McClure and Wade is therefore as yet unsettled. Both sides are claiming it. The result will, it seems, show not more than half a dozen votes difference.

THE REVIVAL CONTINUES.

The series of meetings which began at the Christian Church over two weeks ago continues with daily increasing interest. Up to now there have been thirty-six additions to the church. The afternoon meetings are held in the church, and at night the Court House is filled. The evangelists, Mr. Shaw and Mr. Sommers, who are conducting the services, are both strong men and are listened to with much attention. The meetings will hold over Sunday.

JAG PRODUCER.

Under the caption New Jag Producer, a recent telegram from Washington tells of the glorious drunks produced in "dry" towns by lemon extract. The writer of the telegram never lived in up river towns on the Big Sandy, or he would have not used the word "new" in connection with lemon extract as a jag producer.

THE SMITHS.

First Number of the Lecture Course Was a Fine Entertainment.

If the splendid dish which was set before a fine audience at the Masonic Hall last Friday evening is a good sample of the banquet prepared for us during the winter months, we are indeed fortunate. The Margurite Smith Company is the name of a trio of entertainers, each of whom is an artist in her line. Miss Margurite Smith is an impersonator of children. Nothing half so good as she is in this line ever before presented herself to a Louisa audience, and we much doubt if she has a superior in this role anywhere. In manner, action, facial and tonal expression, in fact in every single particular in child impersonation, she is complete.

Miss Olive Smith, the singer of the company, is a most agreeable contralto, a genuine contralto. Her tones are rich and sweet, and her voice is handled with a skill and sureness delightful to hear. Some of her selections might have been a little too classical for some, but the way in which they were sung, and the encore responses in lighter vein were so delightful that all who heard her were greatly pleased.

Miss Edith Rhett is the pianist of the company, and she is master of the much abused but grand old instrument, the piano. From the opening Polonaise to the closing number, the famous sextette from "Lucia," for left hand only, Miss Rhett won the hearty applause of her hearers. Wasn't that left hand playing a wonderful exhibition of skill? She plays with much ease, is entirely devoid of mannerisms, and is in a word, a very fine pianist. There were over a dozen numbers on the programme and each won an encore, some of them two and three. Our people would gladly hear the Smith Company again.

Mr. John Hackworth was attacked by cerebral hemorrhage early last Tuesday morning and is still suffering from its results. His speech is much affected and one side of his face is paralyzed. Mr. Hackworth has a room at the Savoy hotel and is being well cared for.

HEALTH EXHIBIT.

Interesting Railroad Car Pays Louisa a Visit.

Prevention of Tuberculosis is the Object of this Very Important Educational Work.

The attention of the civilized world is being directed to the fact that the prevention of tuberculosis is absolutely certain and that its cure in its early stage is possible. When the term tuberculosis is used in this article reference is made to consumption, the Great White Plague, a disease to which 200,000 people fall victims annually in the United States. No wonder, then, that the people in this country are giving the subject of tuberculosis their profound attention. Civic authorities, legislatures, boards of health and school boards and the people as individuals are conscious of its dangers and its possibilities, and large sums of money are contributed to a study of the dread disease and to the means used for its prevention and its cure.

There is a society in this State known as the Kentucky Association for the Prevention and Study of Tuberculosis. This society has had a large railway coach fitted up as an exhibition car in which to show by means of charts, pictures, mechanical appliances and miniature sleeping rooms what consumption of the lungs really is, how it may be prevented and how those who have the awful plague in its first stage should be treated so as to insure its permanent cure. This car is in charge of Mr. Eugene Kerner, Secretary of the Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, arrived in Louisa Tuesday morning and remained until the next day. The interior of this car was so arranged that it made a most interesting and useful object lesson in the study of disease of the lungs. During the day the car was visited by health officer Bromley and other physicians and many of our citizens, including several ladies. It was suggested that the exhibit might be the means of impressing the children of the public schools with the importance of fresh air, cleanliness and hygienic living, so Mr. J. B. McClure, the superintendent of the public school department of the K. N. C., was told of it and under his supervision the entire school, in squads of about 20 or so, was taken through the car and the exhibit in all its details was explained to the pupils by Mr. Kerner. At night at the close of the religious services in the Court House Mr. Kerner gave a very interesting lecture on the subject of tuberculosis. He spoke very clearly and in a way which the least informed person in his audience could understand. In his talk he was much aided by a stereopticon. The building was packed with people who, if they will but heed the advice given them on this occasion, will probably lengthen their days.

UNION EVANGELISTIC MEETING.

The Rev. Roscoe Murray has been engaged to conduct a series of meetings at the Baptist Church in this city beginning December 7th. All persons regardless of denominational affiliation are not only invited but expected to join in to make this a great harvest of souls. Rev. Murray needs no introduction to our people, being one of us. All will look forward with anxiety to this opportunity of hearing him. His labors have always been crowned with success. It now remains only for the Christians of Louisa to get in line and look forward to a great meeting.

ACQUITTAL AFFIRMED.

William Roberts, of Floyd county, indicted for alleged selling of his vote at an election, was acquitted through the ruling of the Appellate Court in the case of the Commonwealth against Roberts. The lower Court was upheld.

CEREDO MEETING CLOSED.

The revival at the Ceredo Baptist Church closed last Wednesday evening. About one hundred and fifty people were converted during these meetings, seventy of whom united with the Baptist church while the remaining eighty stated they would join other churches at an early date. Rev. Roscoe Murray, who assisted Rev. Akers, in the services, made many friends during his short sojourn in Ceredo, all of whom were sorry to see him leave. The sum of $30.94 was contributed to the evangelist. At the close of Wednesday evening's service seven persons were baptized in the pool.—Advance.

MRS. CALEB ARTHUR DEAD.

Mrs. Caleb Arthur, formerly of this city, died at Vessie, this county, Sunday after a long illness caused by tuberculosis, aged 42 years. She was buried on Tuesday. She was formerly Miss Nellie Riffe, a daughter of Uncle Billie Riffe. A husband and several children survive her.

Mrs. Lockwood, of Fort Gay, and Mrs. W. M. Byington, sisters of the deceased, and Mr. and Miss Huletto, relatives, went to Vessie Monday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Arthur. The funeral services were conducted by Mr. Huletto.

CHANGE OF NURSES.

Miss Effie Jobe, for three years the capable head nurse at River-view hospital, has resigned and will take private nursing. She is well equipped for her responsible work. Miss Jobe's place has been filled by Miss Maud Clawges, of Ironton. Miss Clawges is a highly trained nurse of much experience and has already shown that she is entirely qualified for her position.

OIL NEWS.

Activity in the Local Field Continues Unabated.

Since our last issue two wells have been drilled in near Louisa. They were the Bays and the Prince wells. Both had a show of oil and some good "sand." The Hays well will be shot about the first of next week. We are not advised as to the proposed action on the Prince well.

The Guyan company has not yet shot its well.

The Square Deal well is now over 500 feet and will be completed about Dec. 1st.

The Chris Lawrence well on the O'Neal farm is over 700 feet deep and the drilling is progressing rapidly.

The derrick foundation for the Reuben Fork company is completed and the derrick will be built without delay.

We have heard of some new propositions which will probably be closed for development purposes right away, but are not authorized to mention any details. There seems to be no let-up in the determination to develop the field.

The Busseyville or O'Neal well No. 1 is flowing steadily.

BIG FIRE IN WEST LIBERTY.

By a fire which broke out in West Liberty on the night of November 6 the large general store of Day and Davis, general store of Dora Keeton, grocery store of Henry Cole, barber shop, Carter building and Methodist Church were all destroyed.

OUR COAL FIELDS.

Manufacturers Record Has More to Say

On This Subject of Greatest Interest to the People of This Section.

A recent number of the Manufacturer's Record contained the following interesting paper on the coal fields of this region and the railroads, present and prospective, leading to them:

Among the big industrial developments now going forward in the country there is no single one, perhaps, of greater general importance than the ten-million-dollar enterprise of the Consolidation Coal Co. in Pike, Floyd, Knott and Letcher counties, Kentucky. And this not only because of the gigantic proportions of the enterprise itself, but as well because of the tremendous influence it is likely to exert over other developments. The Consolidation Company, as repeatedly stated in the Manufacturers Record, has acquired in the four counties named 100,000 acres of coal land, lying in a solid block and running from near the Big Sandy line of the Chesapeake and Ohio at Shelby some 30 or 35 miles in a southerly direction to a point not far from the waters of the Kentucky River, where the new town of Jenkins is being built.

This is said by experts to be one of the finest bodies of coal land to be found anywhere in the country. The coal, which lies in seams of from five to seven feet in thickness generally, increasing to nine feet in places, is peculiarly adapted to the making of coke, both on account of the high quality of the coke itself and the richness of the by-products. The coke has been found by actual test to be of higher quality for ironmaking than the famous cokes of the Connellsville field, because of being even lower in sulphur. It is claimed for it that this freedom from sulphur gives it a value of from 40 to 50 cents more per ton than Connellsville coke, because of the saving in cost of materials used to compensate the sulphur when they are used. The coal is also declared to be of greater value when coked in by-product ovens, because of the large quantity of gas and other by-products secured in the manufacture of coke.

These things, as stated above, have been demonstrated by actual test, to which is added this further assurance: When the Consolidation Coal Co. passed by so many other coal fields, thrown at its head, so to speak, by owners anxious to sell, and drove down its stakes and began to spend its money on this tract, it was because of some superiority for the men in control of the practical end of that great corporation are peers of the best in the business, no matter where else they may be found. The Watsons have been raised in the coal business—in all parts of the business, from the mine to the consumer—and their unsurpassed success in its production and disposal proves their right to primacy. They know the coal business "from the ground up," as it were, so that when it is announced that the coal in this new field of their endeavor possesses the virtues claimed for it people are inclined to believe the assertion without waiting for further demonstration.

The Consolidation company is, therefore, at work on the first stages of development of this great body of coal. Hundreds of men are at work building a railroad from the mouth of Shelby, where the Chesapeake & Ohio runs, to Jenkins to which point the Louisville & Nashville is hurrying up its line from Jackson, a hundred miles away in Breathitt county. The 30 miles being built by the Consolidation will run through its land the long way, and will be turned over to the Baltimore & Ohio for operation. The Baltimore and Ohio, of course, has no line extending in to this region, but—well, that comes further along in the story. This 30 miles will be completed by February, and for the purpose of having something for it to do as soon as completed, the company has further hundreds of men at work opening up mines and building tipples and erecting a great central power plant, so that it will be ready to begin loading coal as soon as the railroad is ready to receive and move it.

The operating plant will, it is said, be the biggest coal plant in the world, and will furnish the electric haulage and all the other power needed in a number of mines designed for a combined output of 4,000,000 tons a year, or about 16,000 tons for each working day, the average being placed at 250 working days per year. This will take something like two miles of 50-ton cars a day to move—two miles of empty cars running into the field and two miles of loaded cars running out each day to carry the output of one concern may be said to indicate "quite some" activity.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad will unquestionably build a line into this coal field, the only open question at this time being as to which one of two routes will be chosen, and whether the extension will be made by the Baltimore & Ohio proper or the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, which belongs to the Baltimore and Ohio. The Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton now runs into Ironton, O., a few miles down the river from the mouth of the Big Sandy, and the Baltimore and Ohio has another line coming in a few miles farther down. There are two ways, either one of which is easy of adoption, and the advocates of each are armed with many cogent reasons for its choice. One is to cross the Ohio River at Ironton and build up the Big Sandy to a con-

BIG SANDY SORGHUM.

Courier-Journal Gives it a Big Editorial Boost.

The Cotton Belt railroad is sending an agricultural exhibit car over Eastern Kentucky to advertise the products of Missouri, Louisiana, Texas and other states reached by its lines. The car was at Louisa a few days ago and an enterprising citizen of the Big Sandy region enlarged its collection by donating a fine specimen of Kentucky sorghum and a bottle of oil from a recently developed well in the Lawrence county oil region.

If these products are to be exhibited for what they really are no one has any grounds for protest, but if they are to masquerade as the productions of other States the entire Commonwealth of Kentucky has a kick coming. It may be that Kentucky oil does not differ materially in quality from that which is exuded from the gushers of Louisiana and Texas, but it is an incontrovertible proposition that Kentucky sorghum is far and away ahead of any other sort of molasses that is produced anywhere in the universe. There are syrups and molasses galore, and no doubt Missouri, Louisiana and Texas may boast some pretty good brands—possibly along with them a passably fair article of sorghum. The fact remains that they have nothing that equals, or in any way, approaches, the juice of the Kentucky sorghum cane when it is compressed in the old-fashioned molasses mill, boiled in the time-tried pans and kettles to the proper consistency and barrelled up in all its golden glory for human consumption. Kentucky sorghum is sui generis and no plus ultra—that is to say, there is nothing else in the world like it and there never will be anything in the syrup line more than half so good.

It is to be hoped the Cotton Belt folks will "tote fair" with this inimitable and insipid specimen of Lawrence county ambrosia. It is better than the nectar of high Olympus or the golden apples of Hesperides, and it ought to be the brand "made in Kentucky" that some of the benighted denizens of other States, who regard sorghum look-

With impressive ceremonies in the presence of about 3,000 persons at Lincoln Farm, near Hodgenville, in Larue county, the Lincoln Farm Association Thursday turned over the place including the Memorial Hall, which contains the rude log cabin in which Lincoln was born, to the State and Nation President Taft made the principal speech. The official transfer will be made after the incoming Legislature makes the necessary provisions.

Among the inmates of the Jessamine county jail at Nicholasville is a 2-months-old baby. Its parents, C. W. Eight persons were killed by the cyclone at Janesville, Wis. The property damage is reported to be nearly a million dollars. The total property loss in the storm's path Saturday and Sunday is estimated in the millions. The storm was followed in several places by a heavy drop in temperature. A fall of 50 degrees was reported by some cities.

The winds of Saturday night wrought great damage all over Indiana and Kentucky. At Bedford, in the former State, many stone mills were wrecked, the financial loss being placed at $500,000. Railroad and wire service, both telephone and telegraph, was greatly crippled. The suffering both to people and stock is reported as very severe.

New York City is the center of the movement and if circumstances are propitious, an effort will be made at the proper time to send a delegation from New York State to the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the House and chief Democratic tariff maker.

Augusta, Ky., Nov. 11.—Last night burglars broke into the Farmers' Supply Company store here and carried away several hundred dollars' worth of goods. The thieves gained entrance by breaking one of the front windows. The local authorities have sent for the Williamsburg, Ohio, bloodhounds, and an effort will be made to apprehend the guilty ones. The thieves were deliberate, taking time to fit shoes and clothes on themselves.

Janesville, Wis., Nov. 12.—There were many freakish incidents connected with the cyclone. At the Douglas farm a buggy was carried into a tree and bent about the trunk, where it hung, the rim of one hind wheel encircling the front axle. At the home of William Little a 6x6 timber was driven through a cow. At the Schmidt farm a hog was cut in two by a plow. At this same place a cook stove was carried to an adjoining field where it was deposited right side up, apparently undamaged.

Several weeks ago, when the political campaign was at white heat and both parties were claiming the State by big majorities, a certain second-street business man made a wager of $100, at even money, with a Market-street business man, that McCreary would carry the State by 20,000 majority. He won. At the time he was thought to be a soft mark, but has proven to be a wise old owl with plenty of nerve.—Maysville Public Ledger.

Rogers was sentenced to a term of from one to five years on a charge of grand larceny.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 11.—Attorney General Breathitt today ruled that before a bank can begin business it must have all the stock required by the statute subscribed in good faith and half the amount of stock paid up in cash.

A new bank in a city that the statute says a bank must have $100,000 capital stock before it can do business had $50,000 of the stock paid up in cash, but only had $75,000 of stock subscribed in all. The Attorney General says this is not complying with the statute, but the bank can begin business when all the stock is actually subscribed and half of it paid up in cash.

Harlan, Ky., Nov. 11.—Deputy Sheriff W. R. Boggs is in a precarious condition from a knife wound in the back, inflicted by Thomas Thompson on Yocums creek. The blade of the knife entered between the ribs and about two inches from the spinal column toward the left side. The blade was broken off and left in the wound till extracted by physicians some hours after he was stabbed.

Thomas Thompson and his brother-in-law, Preston Harris, were drinking, and Sheriff Boggs placed them under arrest on the charge of disorderly conduct. Boggs was unarmed, and Harris drew a pistol on the Sheriff and he started to run. Just as he started to jump a small ditch, Thompson stabbed him in the back. The officials are after Thompson and Harris and expect to land them in jail within a short while.

Richmond, Ky., Nov. 9.—The crowd which greeted Senator McCreary here today was a repetition of that thirty-six years ago, when he was elected Governor, the only difference being the concourse was many hundreds times larger today.

A singular coincidence was that he was met and escorted to town in the same carriage which met him and in which he rode when Governor before, it being drawn by four large horses. Many men were here today who greeted him when he was elected the first time.

When he emerged from the train today he was presented with a bouquet of chrysanthemums by Pres. J. C. Crabbe, of the Eastern Normal School. All the veteran soldiers who were his comrades preceded his carriage in the line of march today, headed by Col. N. B. Deatherage and J. H. Kennedy, who were greatly rejoiced over seeing him elected Governor the second time.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 3.—The following message of congratulation was yesterday sent Gov.-elect McCreary, of Kentucky, by Judge Henry H. Cook, of Franklin, Tenn., a fellow prisoner at Fort Pulaski in 1864:

Lawful loot from both the Capitol and the White House secured during dismantling periods of the buildings may be found in all sorts of out of the way places in Washington.

Old silver-plated ice pitchers, old moss-covered ice pitchers, hung in the wall of our earliest childhood recollections, those that used in their palmy days, to gleam in senatorial offices, have with the inverse evolution of things worked themselves down to the lowest notch in the social and domestic scale. They sold for a dollar a piece. Who in these progressive days of Apollinaris and White Rock drinks ice water out of a silver-plated pitcher that tilts on a pivot?

When the White House was revolutionized just before the Roosevelt began to reign there was a mighty scramble for the historical debris. Any relic from the national mansion was a bonanza. One of the crystal chandeliers discarded from the east room all tinkling prisms, was secured by the House Committee on Appropriations and hung in their handsome little den at the Capitol.

When the blue room underwent its great renovation process the ancient gold-mounted furniture of that famous apartment, upholstered in pale blue, was demoted to the newly-instituted subway of the building and done over in crimson brocade. You see, Uncle Sammy is thrifty. Nothing goes to waste in his menage.

WEST VIRGINIA NEIGHBORS.

NEWS FROM COUNTIES JUST ACROSS THE RIVER IN WEST VIRGINIA.

Tortured by an accusing conscience, J. S. Shoemaker, a farmer, came to Huntington from his home in Wayne County, and confessed he had stolen a pocket book from J. S. Saunders, a railroader, while they were in Huntington a few days ago. Shoemaker was taken before Magistrate Stuart and bound over to the grand jury.

Willie Jones, a prominent citizen of East Ceredo, met with an accident Wednesday afternoon that caused his death some hours later. Mr. Jones was employed at the pulp yard of the Harry S. Stout Co. and was engaged in loading poles on a car. The poles were being raised by aid of a derrick, and from what we can learn of the affair, Mr. Jones was sitting or riding on the end of one as a balance. The pole gave a sudden jerk toward ascension when Jones fell backward. While the declivity was only a few feet, still his head came in contact with the end of a pole with such force that his skull was fractured, causing concussion of the brain. His right leg was also broken.

Way Copley, charged with the murder of Andy Burgess at Marytown, McDowell county, on the 30th day of July past, was acquitted this week after a trial lasting several days. Copley was S. U. G. Rhodes of this city defended by prosecuting Attorney and Attorney Strother of Welch. This was a hard fought case as the defendant had a number of friends who thought that he should escape punishment because he was forced to shoot Burgess in order to save his own life. Prosecutor Rhodes conducted the case in a masterful manner and his address to the jury was pronounced one of the best ever made in the Welch court house. The plea of his client was self defense, and in addition it was shown that his past record was the best. Sheriff Sam Crum and other prominent citizens of Wayne county who Copley was released went and testified in his behalf. The defendant and his friends are very much pleased over the result and compliment Mr. Rhodes very highly.—Mingo Republican.

Is a deed signed on Sunday void? The question came up in the Supreme Court of Appeals in the case of Woodridge et als. vs. Woodridge et als. from the circuit court of McDowell county, and the supreme court affirming the court below held that a deed signed on Sunday was valid. This is sustained by Section 17, Chapter 146, Code, 1909, which says: "No contract shall be deemed void because it is made on the Sabbath day. The suit involved a small tract of land in McDowell county which was sold to W. C. Woodridge jointly by a man named Shannon, attorney in fact for John H. Divine. This was shown it has been on November 20, 1880.

The Standard Oil company has recently allowed leases on 40,000 or more acres of Mingo county land to lapse and, it is reported, is seeking to cancel leases recently renewed. The territory affected is the eastern section of the county, it being understood that the "octopus" is holding on to the leases in Warfield, Hardee and Harvey districts, which are close to producing fields. This move comes as big surprise as less than a year ago the Standard was eager to secure oil and gas rights, paying yearly rentals of 25 cents per acre. Just what has caused the change of front can only be surmised, but it is believed that the recent anti-trust decisions of the U. S. Supreme court had a great deal to do with it, and it is stated the Standard is retrenching in other localities. This action will prove a great loss to a number of Mingo county land owners who have been receiving 25 cents per acre every year.—Mingo Republican.

ULYSSES.

Last Tuesday Z. H. Moore and wife with all their surviving children, three daughters and one son, brought the remains of their youngest daughter, Goldie, back here to their former home for burial. She died at their home in Portsmouth, Ohio, November 4th. She was 18 years old and fell a victim of consumption.

She was an obedient daughter, a devoted sister a kind friend and an earnest Christian worker whose highest ambition was to get well and go out into mission fields and bring others into the fold. Yet she said to her mother, who she loved so dearly, "The Lord's will be done, I am ready." The sorrowing friends and relatives have the deepest sympathy of the entire neighborhood.

ANOTHER ECHO FROM KANSAS.

Holsington, Kans. Oct. 27, 911. It is snowing: The pure soft white flakes have been falling all day, and now our green, shade trees resemble large orange groves or apple orchards.

This is just a little early for snow, but we welcome it just the same, as it prepares the wheat for winter quarters.

I did not see in last week's paper where any one had gone to Texas, but any one in the next issue. I just had news from an old comrade of mine who lives at San Antonio, Tex., that he had undergone an operation for the removal of the right leg which resulted from an injury four years ago, producing a tubercular joint. Here is hoping for his ultimate recovery.

I said something of the Neuces Valley in my last communication, regarding the soil, climate and water; and was wondering if any of the Louisa boys had been fortunate in taking observations in that valley.

There seems to be everything, so far as natural resources are concerned to make that valley a regular "paradise," provided the proper people get hold of the lands and them.

The Cross S. Ranch comprises most of this valley and I know they will not sell any land even to colored people, and they colonized the Mexicans in the Northwestern corner of the Ranch. In the center of this Ranch is that almost "magical" city, called Crystal City which is 3 years old, and has over 2000 people and two railroads, The Crystal City and Uvala R. R. and the Gardendale R. R.

Quite a few people from Holsington are now living there, and seem to be well satisfied.

They get from 4 to 7 crops of alfalfa each year, and can raise as much as 25 bushels oats per acre. Onions sold in the field ready to harvest for over $400 per acre. Now what's the matter with Texas, she's all right.

I have two nice town lots in Crystal City and 20 acres of red sandy loam, 1 1/4 mile from the city, and contemplate going to Texas some day myself. I think I would enjoy that climate, as it is more equable than it is in Kansas, and besides that artisan water is a great object, saying nothing of fresh vegetables the year around.

The land that I bought is adapted to small fruits, onions and vines, as well as the citrus fruits.

Uvala is quite a city 90 miles west of San Antonio, and Crystal City is 45 miles south of Uvala.

My little possessions are not for sale there, but I could sell most any day. My land joins the "Jackson" farm, and they sold 23 acres of onions in the field for $420 per acre, or over 9600 for the crop.

Now for fear some one will think I am getting "windy," I will close, and write more, later. My advice to those who wish a good, healthy, equable climate, would be, go to Texas, "It is a great Empire in itself." It can furnish its own productions without the aid of any other state or country. I know but one thing wrong with the State, and that is its "politics." Jay Hawker.

COAL OUTPUT

Kentucky's U Production for 1910 Nearly 4,000,000 Tons Greater than in 1909.

There was a notable activity in Kentucky's coal mining in 1910 according to figures just made public by E. W. Parker, of the United States Geological Survey.

The total production of the State was 14,623,319 short tons; valued at $14,405,887, as against 10,697,384 short tons, valued at $10,079,917, in 1909, a gain of 3,925,935 short tons, or 36.7 per cent in quantity, and of $4,325,970, or 42.92 per cent, in value.

The stoppage of work in the coal mines effected by the general strike of 1910 was the material benefit to the operators and miners in Kentucky, particularly in the Western field. During the six months of idleness in the other states the shipments over the Louisville and Nashville Railroad from the western Kentucky coal fields increased nearly 70 per cent over the corresponding period in 1909.

Notwithstanding the extraordinary demand upon the Kentucky mines labor supply was entirely adequate as many of the miners who were thrown out of work by the Illinois and the Southwestern States sought employment in Kentucky and

DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION

THE ONE REMEDY for women's peculiar ailments good enough that its makers are not afraid to print on its outside wrapper its every ingredient. No Secrets—No Deception.

THE ONE REMEDY for women which contains no alcohol and no habit-forming drugs. Made from native medicinal forest roots of well established curative value.

In other States not affected by the strike order. By thus making up deficiency caused by the idleness in the competitive States the miners aided materially in securing their demands.

During 1910 the coal mines of Kentucky gave employment to 20-316 men, who worked an average of 221 days. Labor deficiencies in the Kentucky mines were limited to short strikes in 14 mines.

Kentucky is one of the leading States in mining coal by the use of machines and ranks next to Ohio in the percentage of machine-mine output in the total production. In 1910 out of a total of 14,623,319 short tons, 9,362,851 tons, or 64 per cent, were machine mined.

Kentucky an Early Coal Producer.

So far as the records of early coal production in the United States are to be excepted, Kentucky was the third State to enter the list of regular coal producers. According to one of the early reports of the Kentucky Geological Survey, published by the first coal produced in the State was mined in 1827 "the right side of the Cumberland river below the mouth of Laurel." The same report says that in 1827 five boat loads of coal from these mines arrived at Nashville, and that from 1829 to 1834 probably from 25 to 35 boat loads were sent out each year. The boat loads averaged about 1,750 bushels, or 66 tons each.

By 1860, according to the census for that year, the production amounted to 285,760 short tons. Operations were necessarily somewhat interrupted during the Civil War, but since 1870, after the State had begun to recover from the effects of the War, the production increased rapidly, as shown in the following table:

1860.....	285, 760
1870.....	150, 582
1880.....	946, 288
1890.....	2, 701, 493
1900.....	5, 328, 964
1910.....	14, 623, 319

Estimates made by Mr. M. R. Campbell, of the United States Geological Survey, place the original supply of coal in Kentucky at 104,028,000,000 short tons. The total production to the close of 1910 has amounted to approximately 158,000,000 tons, representing an exhaustion of 237,000,000 tons, or 0.23 per cent of the original supply.

McCREARY EXPRESSES GRATITUDE TO VOTERS.

James B. McCreary, Kentucky's next Governor, issued the following statement after the election:

"I am very grateful to the voters of Kentucky for the large majority given me for the high office of Governor. I consider the majority given me and to the other Democrats on the State ticket as an indorsement of the time-tried and time-honored Democratic party and the principles for which it has fought with courage and sincerity for so many years.

"The platform on which I asked the support of the voters of Kentucky represents my views on public questions therein presented, and I will earnestly endeavor to carry out its pledges with the assistance of the members of the General Assembly. I am in favor of progress, improvement and advancement, and it will be my ambition to make Kentucky the most progressive State in the Union, and I will endeavor to advance its interests in every line and try to bring prosperity to the State and happiness to the people. To the chairmen and members of the Democratic Campaign Committees I present my sincere thanks for the successful management of the campaign, and I am thankful to my associates on the ticket and to the speakers from this and other States for their valuable and splendid assistance.

"I am gratified to know that this splendid victory was won without receiving contributions from any corporations, lobbyists or other persons who might desire or ask for any special privileges or favors. I am also pleased to believe that the victory in Kentucky is a forerunner of a great national Democratic victory to be achieved next year in the election of a Democratic President."

As one good result of last week's election three political machines were killed too dead to skin, the Democratic machine in Baltimore, and those in Philadelphia and Cincinnati, both Republican.

Three jurors in the box was the result at Los Angeles, after five weeks work in the effort to secure a jury to try James B. McNamra on the charge of murder.

When this condition is possible
the trial machinery of this country is sadly out of gear.

The first jury of women which sat upon a case in Los Angeles was unable to agree upon a place to take luncheon. Of course it failed to agree upon a verdict and was discharged. The court was wise and appointed the foreman.

Don't you ever believe that Judge O'Rear has resigned or that he has the slightest intention to resign.

The majority in Kentucky for the Democratic State ticket is about 35,000. The official count at Frankfort will occur next week.

Of course men have their troubles, but they don't have to go to bed at night with their faces smeared with complexion ointment.

CURED TO STAY CURED.

How a Louisa Citizen Found Complete Freedom From Kidney Troubles.

If you suffer from back ache—
From urinary disorders—
From any disease of the kidneys.
Be cured to stay cured.
Doan's Kidney Pills make lasting cures.

Louisa people testify.
Heres one case of it:
G. W. Pack, of Louisa, Ky says
"I was employed on the railroad for about five years and last May while some work in a stooped position, I was suddenly taken with a catch across the small of my back. It seemed just as if someone had thrust a knife into my back. After that any work that required stooping made me miserable. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally recommended to me and getting a supply began their use. The contents of one box completely removed my trouble."

Mr. Pack gave the above statement in January 1908 and on June 21, 1909 he said: "I have never had the least trouble from my back since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me."

For sale by all dealers. Price

STOP! LOOK! LISTEN!!

Who would have thought that a large city dealer in ladies cloaks and suits could be induced to bring this entire line to Louisa?
But such is the case, and E. E.
Shannon is the man who has succeeded in doing this, and on next Monday and Tuesday only. The women and girls of Louisa and vicinity can feast their eyes on a display of cloaks and suits that are of the very latest design.
They are man-tailored, and every woman knows there is a "chic" appearance and style to man-tailored garments that is very "fetching." Come and look over this large selection whether you want to buy or not. Mr.
Shannon pays the man whether you buy or not.

LINENS FOR THANKSGIVING

MATCHLESS IN QUALITY

MODERATE IN PRICES

BEST ASSORTMENT IN HUNTINGTON

"Tis no idle boast that our linen stock is exceptional in both quality and variety. Their snowy whiteness will grace the table at this annual feast and add much to the enjoyment of the family and the guests. We are particularly strong in extra wide damask in both the pure white and the silver bleach in a number of the most attractive satin finish patterns and we can match almost any pattern in the napkins and accessories. Particular attention is called to those damask patterns selling at $1.00 and $1.25 per yard as being something unusually pretty and of the most serviceable quality.

Table Covers and Napkins in Sets

A pretty stock of ready-made table cloths, lunch cloths, doilies, napkins, and fancy center pieces in a variety of patterns and in a good range of prices. The most serviceable and popular numbers are the hemstitched effects which constitute the larger part of our present stock. If it is anything in the linen realm you cannot fail to be entirely suited with our present showing.

Other Table Accessories

Silence cloth by the yard in any desired quality, silverware of quality in the famous Community Plate in our basement, fine china and glassware from the same department, ornamental ware for the decohangsgiving stock from which tohangsgiving stock from which to make your choice for thispection at any early date. pectio at any early date.

Who said cut glass To the pretty engaged lass. Buy three loaves of bread today. The Louisa Bakery gives the glass away.

SHE SURE RAN.

On Friday last as William Dillard and horse and buggy were standing near Tom Heston's blacksmith shop somebody flew past on a motorcycle. These contraptions are so remarkable for their silence when in motion, and Bill Dillard, who showed her dislike by starting for her, was not hurt. My, but she did run. At the Brunswick corner she and the buggy passed between the cars and the hotel without touching a thing but the pavement, ending her race against time not far from Jeems' stable. If the Oil Club had been in session in front of the hotel the market might have received a shock, but the mishap hurt nobody.

HORRIBLE DEATH.

Edward J. Costello, manager for the Ironton Transfer Company was almost instantly killed Tuesday evening shortly after five o'clock, at the company's barn on Railroad street near Seventh, in Ironton, when his overcoat caught in the belt of the engine which runs the dynamo that furnishes the light for the buildings. His body was hurled several times against the concrete floor and badly bruised and mangled before the engine could be stopped. Mr. Costello died within half an hour without regaining consciousness.

BOYS, IS YOUR CORN READY?

The boys of the Corn Club should have their corn ready for the exhibit on December 2d, only two weeks from tomorrow. If any of you lads do not take the News, which we doubt, get the issue of Nov. 10 and read all about the contest. Contests are going on all over the State. Thirty-five Whitley county boys competed in a corn show held at Williamsburg recently. The boy who won the prize for the best yield produced 112 bushels to the acre.

THE NEXT ENTERTAINER.

Robert O. Bowman, one of the foremost caricaturists in the country, will be the next feature to be presented by the manager of the entertainment course. He is coming for Thanksgiving night, Nov. 30. The News will tell you all about it next week.

Wm. Terry's little daughter, Amanda, was fatally burned at the home of its mother on Keaton fork of Blaine Tuesday. Its death occurred on Wednesday. The accident was caused by the child's dress catching fire as it stood near the fire place.

The parents separated some time ago, and the father went to Oklahoma, where his father, Sam B. Terry, is now living.

Blaine, Ky., Oct. 16, 1911. We, the pupils and patrons of division 3, sub-district 5, wish to thank our efficient superintendent, Jay O'Daniel, for the interest he has taken in our school by securing for us the service of Prof. T. J. Coates, who through his lecture, on Oct. 11, has created a new interest here among both pupils and patrons.

We also wish to extend our thanks to Prof. Coates for coming and extend to him our heartiest wishes that he may have success in the noble work that he is engaged in.

Blaine School, Emory E. Wheeler teacher. My older pupils have made arrangements to make a bookcase. Two of them are to furnish the lumber, two the tools, and the others to do the work. We are also making preparation to fill the case with books. The second, third, fifth and seventh grades, (there being no fourth, sixth and eighth grades in my school) have bought the books that have been adopted by the State Reading Circle for each of the grades. We also have adopted rules and begun a reading circle. Our rules are so arranged as to allow a number of schools to become members but requiring each to buy a supply of books. These books are to be bought by the officers elected by all schools having circles. This will enable us to so arrange it that we can exchange books profitably. We require a membership fee of 25c and 5c a month dues to be paid during the session of the school. Members taken in after the expiration of 30 days will be required to pay 50c. We are planning to get a number of schools in the circle and schools wanting to become members and exchange books with the members of this circle may write our librarian, Miss Ida Wheeler, for a copy of our laws, enclosing stamped envelope. We have secured about a half dozen books as donations to this circle.

The County Board of Education will meet at my office Monday, 20, 1911, at 9:30 a. m. This will very likely be the last meeting of the Board this year at which any claim will be considered. Those having claims had better file them by this time.

I received a check today from the Auditor for the Teachers' November draw. Will deduct for postage and stationery and send checks to all teachers to whom pay is due for the second month.—Supt.

Following is a list of teachers who have enrolled as members of the Ninth District Association and the first seventeen on the list have signified their intention of attending the Carlisle meeting November 24 and 25. I trust that every teacher in the county will enroll before the Association meets and become Charter members of this organization and that many more will make the trip with us. We will start from Louisa, Thursday afternoon, November 23, and your time will count that you will necessarily have to lose to make the trip. This is an opportunity the REAL PROGRESSIVE teacher should not miss. Teachers everywhere are organizing and better equipping themselves for their work, so why should not the teachers of Eastern Kentucky? Aside from the benefits derived from attending this meeting the vacation will do you good and surely if anyone is entitled to one vacation each year it is the hard working school teacher.

Those wishing to enroll please send me your names and the fee of 50c before next Thursday.

JAY O'DANIEL, Supt.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by Catarrh, that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

BREAD MAKING.

There is an idea among housewives that yeast bread is very difficult to make and that it is about as cheap to buy the baker's product.

This idea is entirely erroneous. Twice as many loaves of bread may be made at home for the same money that you pay for the baker's bread and there is no difficulty about the baking if a few simple rules are followed.

First of all the yeast must be fresh. In most cases failures are due to carelessness in regulating the temperature of the bread during the rising period.

If the liquid used in the bread is warmed up to 90 degrees Fahrenheit before mixing a great deal of time will be saved. Another very important point in bread making is to have the sponge soft. It matters not what kind of bread is being made if yeast is used the dough should not be stiff for the first rising. When the bread is mixed it should be thoroughly beaten. Oxygen is necessary for the growth of the yeast plant and therefore should be introduced by vigorous beating.

The bread should be set to rise in a temperature of from 70 degrees to 90 degrees Fahrenheit. That is the usual temperature at the side of the coal range. If the place it is put to rise is too hot the yeast plant will be killed. If it is not an even temperature, the bread is likely to rise high, fall and sour in consequence. It should not be in a draught.

After the mass has doubled its bulk, which takes from 2 1/2 to 3 hours where a yeast cake is used to 1 qt. of flour; the bread is ready to be worked over and made up into loaves and set to rise for the second time. The second rising takes sometimes an hour, usually less. This time, too, the mass should double its bulk. The oven should be moderately hot for rolls and rather a slow oven for bread.

Two Good Recipes for Yeast Bread.
Plain Light Bread—2 cups milk scalded, 2 cups water, 1 cake yeast, 6 to 8 cups flour, 2 tablespoons lard, 2 tablespoons level butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar. Made up according to the preceding rules.

German Coffee Bread—2 cups milk scalded, 2 tablespoons butter and lard, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cake yeast dissolved in 1-4 cup lukewarm water, 3

REASONS FOR THANKFULNESS.

A good old custom is that handed down to us from the days of John Allen and the native Priscilla the custom of setting apart one day of the 365 to give a thank feast to the glory of God's goodness. We are much indebted to colonial Massachusetts for a festival so distinctive American and so appropriately national in its character and observance. It acknowledges further the gift of a commercial Massachusetts for the famous cranberry, which seems especially created to spice to the turkey and so indissolubly associated table traditions of Thanksgiving.

Great day is Thanksgiving, standpoint of table bounty, climatic good cheer and the tender reunion of near and dear ones. It is the natural "Old Home" day when the scattered flock returns as to the shepherds fold to renew for a few fond hours the ties of vanished years and cherish all that memory has saved from the wreck of time. But through the pathos of his beautiful anniversary incident to the mutability of life shines the immutable star of hope, and the dominant note of the day is one of cheerful thankfulness for the many blessings vouchsafed by a benign providence.

The nation as a whole has abundant reason to feel gratitude to the God of nations for the undoubted prosperity that has been visited upon the American people. The year whose lengthening shadows will now soon fade forever has been fraught with manifold blessings and material fitness.

THANKSGIVING

The toll of summer is over, the crops have been arranged and it is right and proper now that we should stop for a few moments and turn over thoughts, and render our thanks to the great giver of all good and perfect gifts for the bounties that we enjoy and the general prosperity of the country. We would be very indignant should anyone accuse us as being ungrateful; but there is a law of nature that decrees, that if a man will not use a faculty of power, he shall not retain it, and the spirit of thankfulness is not exercised as much as it should be. In this excited and feverish race of life, we simply snatch its many blessings without stopping to think of the source from whence it came, and we are slowly, but surely, losing this principle of gratitude, and as the general prosperity increases, we are withdrawing more and more into the little circle of self. As we become more and more independent of each other we become more and more selfish, exacting and ungrateful—not only toward the Lord but toward each other. But let Thanksgiving day remind us that we should be grateful; and gratitude, like every other human principle, comes to us by cultivation, cultivation either from pressure of circumstances or from self imposed discipline. But in these prosperous times, few of us take the trouble to impose much self discipline, or to cultivate the noble principles of thankfulness, but give full reign to all the selfish instincts of the animal nature and especially to the greed of money.

HER FRIEND'S GOOD ADVICE

The Results Made This Newburg
Lady Glad She Followed Suggestion.

Newburg, Ala.—"For more than a year," writes Myrtle Cothran, of this place, "I suffered with terrible pains in my back and head. I had a hollow complexion, and my face was covered with pimples. Our family doctor only gave me temporary relief.

A friend of mine advised me to try Cardui, so I began taking it, at once, and with the best results, for I was cured after taking two bottles. My mother and my aunt have also used Cardui and were greatly benefited. I shall always praise Cardui to sick and suffering women."

Cardui is a purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, tonic remedy for women, and will benefit young and old. Its ingredients are mild herbs, having a gentle, tonic effect, on the constitution, and has helped a million women to health and strength.

you tried it? If not, please make up your mind that you need it. Write for Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for special card, and 64-page book, "Home Treatments," sent in plain wrapper, on request.

getting; and out of this state of affairs grow all the strifes of the home and country; all the strikes and convulsions arising from the contentions between capital and labor, and all the anarchy, which attempts to exhort that which is not freely given, and the only remedy that we see for this festering state of affairs is some great calamity, which shall wring from us the fragrance of human sympathy, or some tremendous impulse that will cause the people to put a check upon the selfish propensities and compel us to acknowledge our mutual dependence upon each other as well as upon the Lord of Heaven. So, we come Thanksgiving day, and let us learn a lesson of gratitude which shall bring us instead of a curse, a blessing from our universal prosperity.

With this cheery and appreciative spirit, therefore let us celebrate the national holiday. Let us enjoy it to the full, from turkey and cranberry sauce to the good-natured discussion of lively municipal contest that is approaching. And with all our table bounty and good cheer in the domestic circle, let us not forget that the occasion is peculiarly one for brightening the lives of others less fortunate than ourselves a day for the practical but unostentatious bestowal of charity.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 1—Now that the election is over the talk is all inauguration plans and the appointments to places under the new administration. Gov. McCreary will be inaugurated as Governor on December 12, and it is expected that the largest crowd Frankfort ever entertained will be here that day to see the man who was Governor in 1875 again take the oath of office. No definite plans for the inauguration, the first in the new Capital have been discussed, local committees will begin work in a few days to arrange for the celebration.

Over at the Capital there is not the boom that one would expect when the party in power has been re-elected. Too many of the Republicans now holding office under the State were not any too fond of Judge O'Rear, so that they are not mourning his defeat, the men who on the ticket with, of course are disappointed. The State employees say that they are so effectually buried under the landslide of votes that they have been made speechless.

There is much talk now of probable appointments under the new administration. Charles Morris law clerk in the Attorney General's office, the only democrat who remained during the recent republican administration will continue in the Attorney General's office, but will have much better position. He will be second assistant Attorney General. There is a tip that Col. H. Watson Lindsey, Chief of Police of Louisville, will be Adjutant General but that tip does not come as straight as it might be. James Tandy Ellis, of Lexington, is another tip for Adjutant General.

It is too soon after the election to be predicting who will get various positions, but during the next few weeks that will be the main topic of conversation. In Frankfort, The State officers, except Governor, will go into office on the first Monday. The law fixes this as the date for the State officials to take the oath and the present officials caught the term, as they went in on January 6, almost the latest date that could be. The first Monday might be the 7th or the 1st, and in this instance, so that the incoming administration will have the longest terms that the law will permit, showing how lucky the Democrats are this year.

FALLSBURG.

There was a quiet wedding at the residence of L. M. Cooksey Sunday evening, his sister, Miss Forme Cooksey and Mr. Willie Skeens being the contracting parties, with Judge Austin performing the ceremony. Both young people are popular and loved by everyone who know them. We wish the happy couple a long and prosperous life. With sorrows scarcely known, And plenty all their own.

Lizzy Collinsworth's baby, who has had a very serious attack of diphtheria, is much improved.

Lafe Cooksey has recovered from malaria.

Kay Henson is very low with typhoid fever and pneumonia.

Aunt Sarah Yates returned Sunday from a visit to her daughter in West Virginia.

Our solicitors are quite busy getting names on their papers, to get help to build a church at this place.

The election went off very quiet and peaceable here.

There will be services here Saturday night and Sunday, conducted by Rev. Hardy. ????

NOTES OF THE FARM

THAT WILL BENEFIT
FARMERS.

Vegetable Marketing.

Raising vegetables or fruit for market is a different proposition than raising them for home use only. By market we mean placing produce on the public market or among the commission men, or shipping to the eastern markets. After our vegetables or fruits have reached maturity our troubles have just begun. Forty years ago wheat and cotton were about the only products of the farm that were shipped any great distance. Now vegetables and fruits of all kinds, as well as grains, are shipped to points across this continent and to foreign countries. The business has become so vast, especially here on the Pacific coast, that to handle the shipping business it requires men who are expert in that line. To get the best prices and hold the trade, it is absolutely necessary that the box or crate be neat and substantial, and, most important of all, that nothing but a perfect article be packed therein. This all requires more expert help or rather management. With Eastern carload shipments, organization of some kind is the only method; and under the management of some one capable of handling any large business. Coming down to the man with sells in the local markets, we find that to get best prices each individual must have a certain amount of salesmanship. Here a good article and a neat package counts, too, but a good deal depends on the natural or cultivated faculty of selling goods. Many times the writer has seen individuals in Los Angeles public market with loads of identically the same fruit, or perhaps a load of melons, where one would get 10 to 20 per cent. more for his load than the other. Some seem to have an intuition as to the condition of the market. A sort of feeling as to whether to sell early at any old price or hang on and get a good price. These conditions prevail in all markets. At times the buyers do not seem to care whether they buy or not. To judge of these conditions is necessary to sell successfully. In shipping to local commission men or dealers to the best advantage it requires a certain amount of tact besides business sagacity. Oftentimes a commission man will make better returns to a man whom he knows to be a good business man than to one whom he knows or thinks is an "easy mark." Therefore, we say to be successful in raising anything for market, one must have a head for business. Time was when it was thought that anyone could succeed at farming. Now it is known that to be successful, one must have a well-balanced mind to grasp the scientific and economic details of the business.—(G. H. H., in Rural Press.)

Before putting brooders, brood coops and colony coops away for the winter give them a thorough cleaning with hot water and soap. Scrub them inside and out and use two table-spoonfuls of a good commercial creolin in each gallon of wash water. Let them dry thoroughly in the sun before storing a way.

Overgrown fowls are no better in any particular than those of normal size.

The breeding, care and selection designed for increasing size and better by devoted to the development of laying qualities and table quality instead of quantity. Corn makes fat and heat. Oats, wheat, bran and middlings make eggs.

Clover is better than any other hay for fowls for the reason that it possesses egg-making nutriment, as well as fiber to separate the particles of grain. It not bulk, more quantity, that is needed, but coarse fiber to separate the concentrated feed in the stomach, so that the gastric juices can circulate through the mass.

Years ago the Boston market received quite a reputation for their green geese, owing to the style of the carcasses and the manner of dressing them. The tail and wing feathers, and the ruff around the neck were allowed to remain. Ever since then geese in that style are termed "Boston Geese."

size and healthy, buy 'em. In from two to three weeks' time, with a liberal ration you can have them laying, and you can keep them laying all winter. Many will be sold for what it costs to raise them and less.

If catarrhal colds result from sudden climatic changes, house the birds in open-air quarters, feed liberally, cleanse mouth and nostrils with a solution of one teaspoonful of creolin in a pint of water, or use this solution to dip their heads in. Used as a dip every other day or every day (according to the severity of the cold) for one week, this treatment will usually cure.

Cochran Oil Co. Reuben Fork Oil Co.

OFFICE—TORCHLIGHT, KY.

BRANCH OFFICE, LOUISA, KY.

REUBEN FORK OIL CO. consists of Floyd McCown and Jack Adkins farms situated on the head of Reuben Fork of Lick Creek and contains 300 acres. 1st well will be located on McCown farm.

COCHRAN OIL CO. consists of the following tracts or farms: G. C. See, W. R. Childers, James Miller and H. C. Cochran. Bounded on South by Reuben and on the West by Lick Creek and this well will be located less than one mile south of Lick Creek well.

The above companies are both incorporated for $6,000 each divided into 600 shares at $10 each.

These two wells will be promoted on same general plans as we promoted the Square Deal Oil Co., the promoters retaining $500 in stock and 1-8 part of the oil so you see if we are not successful we get nothing for our leases or labor. Who could ask for a fairer proposition? The price now asked for rentals are so high that hereafter a proposition of this kind could not be promoted on these terms.

OUR COAL FIELDS.

nection at Shelby with the road being built by the Consolidation. This would seem the most direct route, and the one, therefore, naturally to be chosen.

Meantime the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton road is being double-tracked north of Dayton; grades are being lessened by cuts and fills; curves are being eliminated where possible, and many acts and things are being done to indicate that the Baltimore and Ohio is fixing it up for utilization in carrying a great tonnage to the lakes. And where can it be more easily secured than from the immense coal deposits to be found on the various tracts of land mentioned above?

Spunk.

Ely's Cream Balm has been tried and not found wanting in thousands of homes all over the country. It has won a place in the family medicine closet among the reliable household remedies, where it is kept at hand for use in treating cold in the head just as soon as some member of the household begins the preliminary sneezing or snuffing. It gives immediate relief and a day or two's treatment will put a stop to a cold which might, if not checked, become chronic and run into a bad case of catarrh.

YATESVILLE.

DOCTORS FAILED. RESTORED BY PERUNA.

Catarrh of the Lungs

Threatened Her Life.

Miss Ninette Porter, Braintree, Vermont, writes: "I have been cured by Peruna."

"I had several hemorrhages of the lungs. The doctors did not help me much and would never have cured me. I saw a testimonial in a Peruna almanac of a case similar to mine, and I commenced using it."

"I was not able to wait on myself when I began using it. I gained very slowly at first, but I could see that it was helping me."

"After I had taken it a while I commenced to raise up a stringy, sticky substance from my lungs. This grew less and less in quantity as I continued the treatment."

"I grew more fleshy than I was for a long time, and now well."

KENTUCKY NEIGH.

Ben Brumfield, of Wayne county has sold over $400 worth of apples this fall and has apples left.

The Court of Appeals of Kentucky has affirmed the Magoffin county case of Whit vs. Whit, and the Pike county case of Polley vs. Adkins.

Mr. O. C. Montague, an old and highly respected citizen of Catlettsburg, died suddenly in a hotel in that city last Friday. He was a brother of Attorney John J. Montague.

Whitesburg, Ky., Nov. 11.—At Up per Rockhouse, north of here in Letcher county, Babe Bentley, 47 years old, a son of the late Joe F. Bentley, and a son-in-law Sheriff Louis Cook, accidentally shot and killed himself late last night.

Last Thursday afternoon Henry Robins, a young man of Rocky, this county, shot and fatally wounded an aged man, John Evans, 60, near the latter's home at Limeville. It is said that young Robins was in a drunken condition and that he had no cause whatever to commit this awful crime. Evans died Saturday, having been shot twice through the stomach. This is three murders for Greenup county in one week, which is quite a record. All done with revolvers. It would be a good idea for Kentucky to have a law passed similar to the one in West Virginia, and do away with this crime.—Greenup Gazette.

The Fiscal Court has been in session in Pikeville during the last week, and they did some things that are of interest to the taxpayers of the county. Among them, the County Judge's salary was reduced, from $1,500 to $900, and the County Attorney's from $1,000 to $700, and the County Superintendent from $1,500 to $1,000 per annum. This is a saving to the taxpayers of Pike county of $1,400 in salaries per year. The order setting these salaries will stand for six years and during this time the taxpayers will be saved on this item the sum of $8,400.—Pikeville Advocate.

C. W. Peters brought to this office Wednesday an Irish potato weighing six ounces, which is from a volunteer crop now growing in his garden. He had his potatoes dug the first of September and a second crop of volunteers has come up, which promises a good yield. All to whom he has mentioned the matter say they never heard of such a thing before. The potatoes are of the variety known as the "Six-Weeks." — Sharpsburg World.

Alton J. Simmons, '23, a printer, who came to Huntington recently from Louisville, Ky., met a terrible fate on the C. and O. railroad about 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The accident occurred about 100 yards west of the "D-K" telegraph tower on the Guyan river, and the young man was killed in a most horrible manner. He attempted to board an eastbound freight, but fell from the swiftly moving train, and his foot was caught in the stirrup of the car on which he had attempted to climb.

On next Monday and Tuesday there will be brought to Louisa the largest and most complete line of ladies and misses coats and suits ever seen in the Valley. Mr. E. E. Shanley, of Adkins, arranged with one of the dealers in the United States to bring this line of goods to Louisa, play same for sale on certain dates. This will be a truly enjoyed outside of Louisa.
